ON TRACK OF LEO THURMAN

Wan Who Is Believed to Have Killed Dolsen Held in Jail.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NORFOLK, VA., February 8.—The properties of the Bay Shore Terminal Company were to-day transferred to the Norfolk and Ocean View Railroad Company, designated by E. B. Smith, of Philadelphia, a corporation which would receive the deed executed by the commission on the road to Smith, almost a year ago, for $750,000.
The Norfolk and Ocean View Railroad Company will hold the property for the Norfolk and Portsmouth Traction Company, which holds the securities.
Securities of the Bay Shore held by Smith represented most of the purchase price.
The Bay shore line traverses a number of the city's streets and connects the city with Ocean View. Owing to financial troubles the system has never been completed, but will now, it will be put in first-class physical condition, and connected with the Exposition grounds.

May Be Man Wanted.
Chief of Police Boush is awaiting further advice from Jellico, Tenn., concerning the man being held there on the suspicion that he is Lee C. Thurman, wanted here on the charge of having murdered W. P. Dolsen, in an East Main Street boarding house a year ago. Dolsen's body was hid in a trunk. Many arrests have been made in different parts of the country in connection with the murder. With but imperfect information there seems to be some marks of similarity between Thurman, the alleged murderer, and the man under arrest in Tennessee.

Thurman had a mole in the center of the back of his neck, and the police of Jellico report that the man has one there also. Thurman had a scar on his left leg just below the knee. The Jellico police report that their man has a bullet wound in the calf of his right leg just below the knee.
Chief Boush has wired for further advice.

SHOOTS THROUGH DOOR KILLING A YOUNG MAN

Troy Moore Dies of Pistol Wound Received in Peculiar Manner.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
MARTINSVILLE, VA., February 8.—Troy Moore, third son of B. E. Moore, of Moore's Mill, this county, was shot at the house of a woman named Chas. W. Moore, in that neighborhood, Tuesday night, and died of his wounds last night at Moore's Mill. It is not known just how the shooting occurred, but it seems that a young man named Richard Dunnivant, who was at the house, heard a party of other young men, among whom was Moore, coming and leaving the house, and that he, Dunnivant, fired a shot through the door. Someone in the crowd struck Moore, and the shot struck him in the chest, killing him.

Richard Dunnivant and Jack Smith were charged with the shooting before the justice on February 10th, in the sum of $250 each. Mr. D. E. Moore, young Moore's father, is generally thought that the shooting of Moore was accidental. The scene of the trouble is in a remote part of the county and full particulars did not reach here until today.

NEW LIBRARY.

Building at Washington and Lee University.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
LEXINGTON, VA., February 8.—The committee from the faculty of Washington and Lee University having in charge the plans for the new library building, is making a thorough inspection of the same. The architect is Mr. Link, of St. Louis. The building will be a handsome structure, its style being in keeping with that of the central University building, and of the old Hall, with heavy white columns sustaining a portico for each of the two fronts. The wings will contain stacks sufficient for a library more than double the size of the present library.

The catalogue of Washington and Lee University for 1907 is just off the press, and shows a total enrollment the present session of 417, divided among the schools as follows: Academic studies, 225; engineering, 108; law, 84. This is the largest record in the history of the school. The attendance has been exactly trebled in nine years, the registration published in the catalogue of 1898 having been 139.

GRAYS' FUND IS GROWING FAST

Many Are Sending in Contributions for Equipment of Petersburg Soldier Laid.

YOUNG MEN IN TROUBLE

Richmond Wants Rivenback and Pitt When Cockade City Is Through With Them.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
PETERSBURG, VA., February 8.—Contributions to the fund for the Petersburg Grays are coming in steadily, and it is hoped that every business man in the city will respond to the call to aid the equipment of the men proposed to make one of the best military organizations in the State. A target shoot will be held at the armory next Monday night, when a handsome medal will be awarded to the best marksman in the company.
Petersburg Council, Knights of Columbus, met this evening at the store of Mr. J. H. Bailey, and made arrangements for the ceremonies of institution next Sunday. Between 200 and 300 members of the order from Washington, Richmond, Alexandria, Lynchburg, Roanoke, Norfolk and Portsmouth are expected to attend, and special railroad rates from these cities have been secured.

H. Mann, and of their counsel, Lassiter and Drewry. Chief of Police Ragland has received a letter from Captain Hamilton, of Richmond, enclosing warrants for the arrest of the men on the charge of working the same fraud in that city. Captain Ragland has a big bunch of receipts given by the young men to people here, who paid $1.50 subscriptions to the supposed agents.

The suit of the Appomattox Lumber and Box Company, of this city, against the Norfolk and Western Railroad Company, which was set for trial in the Hustings Court to-day, was postponed. ## LITTLE BABY CURED OF ECZEMA

Parents Applied to Hospitals and Doctors but Could Get No Relief—Grew Worse Under Doctor's Prescription—Friends Recommended Cuticura—Result

A SPEEDY AND PERMANENT CURE

"We express to you herewith our best thanks for the cure of our baby from eczema. The eczema appeared when the child was three months old. We applied to several doctors and hospitals, each of which gave us something different every time, but nothing brought relief. A physician recommended a salve which we threw into the fire after two days' use as the eczema became worse so that the baby scratched his face. At last, one of our friends recommended us Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. A few days afterwards improvement could be noted. Since then we have used nothing but Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, and now the baby is six months old and is quite cured. All that we used was one cake of Cuticura Soap and two boxes Cuticura Ointment, costing in all $1.25. Even the poorest man can pay that instead of throwing it into the doctor's lap. I myself only make twelve dollars a week as a teacher, but I recommend the Cuticura Remedies strongly to all mothers whose children suffer from such diseases. They are cheap, harmless and good. C. F. Kara and Wife, 343 East 68th Street, New York, March 30, 1906."

MONEY RAISED FOR VETERANS' REUNION

Yesterday's contributions to the Confederate Reunion fund aggregated $1,231, and made the total in sight reach considerably over $11,000. This, at the first glance, seems most encouraging, but it should be remembered that the old soldiers still have nearly $14,000 to raise, even if the City Council appropriates $20,000. Then, too, they have already sent their can- didates to the State Convention, and are promising fields, and the money that comes hereafter must be procured by what the commercial travelers call "bushwhacking." The veterans, however, are undaunted. They intend to do their best.

DIES IN THE STREET.

Stranger Expires Moment After He Falls.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
EAST RADFORD, VA., February 8.—About 6 o'clock this evening Mr. Hand Payne noticed a man on the railroad in front of house, apparently very sick. On reaching him the man said he was dying, and rapped over dead. He was about sixty years old, fairly well dressed; had some baggage, which contained clean clothes.
In his pocket was an envelope addressed to Mr. Thomas Barnes, Johnson City, Tenn.; also a Testament, in which was written June McConnell, Charlottesville, Va., Christmas, 1906. On the verso page was Miss J. M. McConnell, Emory, Va. He had the address of George Peters, Bristol, and J. M. Boring, Pulaski, Va.

The doctors pronounced the cause of his death apoplexy. The city authorities took charge of the body.

PLAN TO EXTEND WORK FOR WOMEN

Much Interest Taken in Proposition to Use Old Y. M. C. A. for Purpose.

NO DEFINITE STEP TAKEN YET

Present Organization for Working Girls Hampered by Lack of Funds.

The publication a few days ago of a letter from Mr. W. Emerson Holehand, suggesting that the citizens of Richmond buy the old Young Men's Christian Association Building, at Sixth and Main Streets, as soon as the association can vacate, and turn it into a home for an organization for young women, has met with considerable interest among those interested in the welfare of the working girls of the city. Though there is nothing tangible in the scheme as yet, it is receiving consideration, and may be given definite direction at any time.

The Women's Christian Association, 700 East Franklin Street, is perhaps the leading organization in the city which gives special attention to the employed girls of the city, and the labors of this excellent institution have been greatly hampered by lack of means. The principal work they are undertaking at present is a boarding department, where a home is made for from fifty to seventy-five employed girls, whose board is placed at about the cost of operating. The association does a limited amount of social and educational work, but has never been in financial condition to branch out so as to meet the needs of the great number of fairly well-to-do employed girls, who now fill the stores and offices of the city.

Nothing Definite Yet.

The proposition of placing at the disposal of the Women's Christian Association the old Y. M. C. A. Building would, if carried out, give an opportunity for considerable work in the direction of providing suitable club life for the working women of the city.

The gymnasium, properly refitted and in the hands of a capable instructor, would provide much needed exercise for an army of girls whose sedentary employment makes some form of scientific exercise a necessity. The upstairs rooms could be used for educational classes, where for a small sum instruction would be given in stenography, bookkeeping, telephony and specialized branches of shopkeeping. The auditorium could be used for public exercises and as a source of revenue.

It is possible that other organizations of the city might be induced to co-operate in the undertaking, dividing the expense. For instance, rooms might be set aside for the Art Club and for musical associations. The Wednesday Club might have a room, and the use of the auditorium on certain nights.

The whole scheme is entirely tentative, and is merely put forward as a method of advancing the moral standing of the city. No definite organization has as yet been formed to take the matter in hand, nor is it probable that anything will be done unless some of the citizens of Richmond are sufficiently interested in the plan to start a subscription or guarantee fund, in which case an organization might be effected, and the industry made as to the cost and necessity of the work.

BARTON HEIGHTS YOUNG PEOPLE PRESENT PLAY

Auditorium of New School Building Crowded to Doors Last Night.

The charming comedy-drama, "Among the Breakers," enacted by the young people of Barton Heights, was presented last night in the new school-building of that prosperous suburb, and was attended with results from every standpoint that exceeded the most sanguine expectations of those who had worked so hard and faithfully to make the entertainment a success.

The number of tickets sold exceeded by far the number of seats available, and when the curtain rose, on the first act, the auditorium was crowded to the doors. The play is so well adapted for amateur to handle, but every member of the company proved equal to the task, and the applause of the audience gave unmistakable evidence of their appreciation of the sincere and earnest efforts of the actors and actresses who composed the cast.

The story, told in two acts, is a sweet and wholesome narrative of life among seafaring folk, with one or two city characters introduced to lend additional interest and variety. Miss Ruth Gilpin, Miss Helen Boush, gave a droll and highly amusing delineation of an Irish girl, and Mr. Cyrus Bache was equally clever in an amusing rendition of the part of Larry Devine. Both showed much skill in handling the Irish brogue, which is by no means an easy task. Miss Helen Harlan, under a skillful make-up, played Mother Carey in an intelligent and dignified manner, and read her lines with confidence and good expression. Miss Mattie Ross was charmingly natural as Miss Starbright, and looked unusually pretty in an attractive costume of red and white. Miss Josephine Tigner was acceptable and capable in the small part of Minnie Daze. Mr. Letcher Boone, as Peter Paraphrase, a newspaper reporter, infused much life and breeziness into the part, and his clever work would have made many a wilder of the quill envious. Mr. Charles O'Bannon, as Dave, made the most of the "thick-skulled" "heavy" role, and was scarcely recognizable beneath the clever make-up. Mr. Julius Redd was ridiculously funny as Scud, the negro servant, and Messrs. Conway Hazlegrave and Bruce Harvey, as the Hon. Bruce Hunter and Clarence Hunter, did clever and original work, and were thoroughly at ease in their parts.

The stage setting showed a realistic interior of a light-house, and the lighting and lighting-and-thunder worked admirably except in one instance, when the thunder defied nature's laws and was heard a second or two before the flash. Much of the credit for the smoothness of the performance is due Mr. Wellington Farrow, who had worked arduously and untiringly for two weeks in coaching the ambitious but overzealous aspirants for histrionic fame.

Contempt Case.

The Supreme Court of Appeals has refused a writ of error in the case of John T. Delart, a lawyer of Bristol, who was fined by the mayor and a Justice of the peace for contempt of court. The contempt grew out of a case in which the lawyer was counsel. The fine of $20 was imposed, and an appeal was made to the Corporation Court, which refused to interfere in the case, and a further appeal was made to the highest court.

The Supreme Court will meet again on the 15
